

MILE BUILDING CRUISE IN THE GREEK ISLANDS

In a weeks normal charter you cover a relatively short distance, spending a lot of time relaxing and swimming.

With our Mile building cruises you will undertake qualifying passages for your ASA / RYA certificates. Distances of over 60nm non stop as well as night sails will be the order of the day. You will learn about sailing in a watch system, cooking at sea, and the fun of sailing in open waters. The trips have no official syllabus so you will be part of an active crew, working and living together.

So who is this for?

Actually just about any one. Obviously if you have an ASA / RYA certificate and want to gain more experience and sea miles then these cruises are ideal. But on the other hand if you are an able bodied individual with a sense of Adventure and want to experience some thing a little different then this may also be for you too !!

So where do you go ?

Your trip will take you south down past the famous Cape Sounion and the temple of Poseidon and on to the island of Kea. From here you will continue south to the island of Paros, before heading west to the island of Serifos. From here you will start back to Athens, sailing across the gulf to Spetsai island before heading north towards Athens
